OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE.

The Great University Boat Race.

Prize the Fall Half Gazette, April 4. The Fall is the last of the series of boat races between Oxford and Cambridge, which, in consequence of the reputation of the crews, the distinction and character of the men, the Cambridge has fourteen times been victorious, and Oxford only twice. Most this then, the children of vesper service, in white and scarlet and dikes, bonnets to ribbons, in motive, their fashionable of books and medals, and in the Oxford, Cambridge, Oxford, and hard practice commenced. The spirit was fair, and a beautiful day, but there was much rough, in the selection of a stupendous coach to the Thames, which is generally in a dreadful state of mud, and the Cambridge men, who should come for him to accompany them on the Oxford side, worked in the Lady Ellis, the watermen, was first sent for, but decided in favor of a steamer on the old school, and his own Cambridge acquitted himself bitterly they went too far back, and he rather fretted by the impetus he lessen was lighter than usual at the season, through in one or two tongue ex were informed that "they was constrained, forsooth, from opinions." There is no material change in the situation, though many of the bankers are inclined to believe that the easier feeling was of a very moderate character. The offering of Grain bids were light, as the shippers were doing little. Taken in the aggregate the imports for issues was lighter than usual at the season, though in one or two instances we were informed that "they was constrained, forsooth, from opinions." There is no material change in the situation, though many of the bankers are inclined to believe that the easier feeling was of a very moderate character. The offering of Grain bids were light, as the shippers were doing little. Taken in the aggregate the imports for issues was lighter than usual at the season, though in one or two instances we were informed that "they was constrained, forsooth, from opinions."

Wheat and dull and unsettled. Bulls stating prices with more reluctance than on Tuesday, No. 1 Spring, cash, at $2.01½. On Change the market opened quite dull and nominal at $2.00½ cash—Gr. for the month, and nominally nominal. The earlier quotations for "spot" were $2.01, but there were no buyers, and prices rallied some to $2.01½ for the month, and $2.01½ cash, a decline of 1½c from Saturday's closing rate. The market subsequently became more active and lower, dropping at one time as low as $2.00, advancing more steadily to $2.02½@2.03. After the crowd left the market broke down to $2.01 (2.01½), but almost immediately rallied to $2.02½@2.03 (2.02½). Corn and Oats were also weaker, dropping to $1.05, but suddenly turned up to $1.07 at the close. No. 1 Spring was coarse and lighter; No. 2 almost out of the market. We quote sales of 8,000 bu No. 1 Spring at $2.02½@2.03 (2.02½), 114,000 bu No. 2 Spring at $1.96 (1.97), 114,000 bu No. 3 Spring at $1.90@1.91, chiefly at $1.91, and 1,000 bu No. 3 Spring at $1.96. Rotas, 134,000 bu.

Corn was fairly active and lower. The market was rather quiet on the walk at the Exchange, being in variance from the close of Saturday. On Change it opened 1c lower and quiet, and orders good competition on the part of buyers, rapidly rose to 56½c, and then to 56½c; the market became dull and drooping, and closed heavy. No. 1 Corn sold liberally at 56½c at the opening. The market for New Corn was steady throughout, and quiet at the close of the quotation, but weaker down up on receipt of the report of the Board of Trade, showing the receipts of 135,000 bu No. 1 Corn at 55½@56½c, with 40,000 bu No. 2 Corn at 55½c, and 2,000 bu Rejected at 55½c. Total sales, 1,000,000 bu.

Oats were decidedly better. Before Change numerous sales were made at 32c, an advance of 1c on the closing prices of Saturday. On Change the market opened quiet and a little weaker, but soon became more active and ruled firm at 1c better, and a fair business was done, and closed at 32c. Receipts were 50,000 bu No. 2 Oats at 32c, and 1,000 bu Rejected at 31c. Total sales, 100,000 bu.

Rye was firm and quiet. Sales of 1,000 bu No. 2 at 81c.

Barley was still quiet, almost dull, and lower. No. 1 was sold at $1.02@1.31.

Pork was dull, nominally lower, in fact not enough is being accomplished in the way of sales to establish a definite quotation. We quote sales of 50 bbls Old Mess at $20.50, and Hungerford at $21.25.

Lard was firm, with sales of 225 tierces at $11.30 and 125 bbls at $11.40.

Bulk Meats were very quiet, being generally neglected. We only note sales of 100,000 lb Short Clear Middles at 7c, buyer May.

Sweet Pickled Hams were fairly active at a decline. Sales were reported of 200,000 lb at 9c, and 50,000 lb at 9½c.

Cured Meats were somewhat above the market price: City Hams could probably have sold at 10½c.

Lard was quiet and entirely nominal, but 4c better. Holders asked 12c in the early morning, and later were unwilling to take less than 12c, while buyers were equally unwilling to give more than 11½c. Sales of 50 tierces were made at that price, 20 tierces sold Saturday evening at 12c. Greases were inactive. Tallow quiet, with sales of 40,000 lb at 8½c.

In view of the fact that the New York decision on the subject of a reversion, and the fact that the market price of Gold is lower than it has been for some time, the Board of Trade decision, that contracts for gold should be settled at the market price, will be very generally accepted as a fair and equitable decision. It is a decision which has been anticipated, and which, we think, will be fully sustained. The decision was delayed longer than we thought it would be, and we quote for market closed.

Sales Saturday, April 10, 1869.

Wheat, bu	75,000	1.91	1.91½
Pork, bbls	1,000	20.50	20.50
Lard, tierces	225	11.30	11.40
